Information Regarding Obituary Submission:
We charge for our services of obtaining, creating or retyping, editing, assembling/ formatting per obituary and/or contacting each out of state newspapers to determine how it is to be submitted and then the actual submission cost. If we are submitting the final copy of an obituary to an in-state newspaper, there is no charge. If we have to obtain, create, type, assemble and/or format an in-state newspaper, the charge is $75 per obituary submitted.		$75/obit
We will place your emailed/written obituaries and photos on our website for free. Most newspapers will allow minimal information to be published as a paid obituary with a link to our website, where a full-length obituary could be posted. In the case of the Coloradoan, they offer a death notice listing of name, date of death and the funeral home for $39 + tax.
Each newspaper has its own method of charging for obituaries. Most charge for any space used while some allow for a free obituary provided their format is used. Whatever they charge, it will be added to your total cost on your statement of goods and services. If this charge is greater than $500, a personal family credit card is needed to place the obituary.
Note: Some families choose to write an obituary and submit it directly to the newspapers. Most contact information for newspapers can be found, if not readily available, by an internet search. If the name and phone number of a small weekly newspaper is not known, this usually requires a call to a local mortuary to obtain this information. If a family chooses to be completely responsible for this, newspapers will request payment up front. The family must also be available by telephone for any questions that arise in preparation to go to print including in the evening hours. Most newspapers will accept text in Word format and a separate JPEG file for a scanned photo. A few newspapers are unable to accept pictures electronically and some will even request the information be faxed to them. We cannot be responsible for any errors, mistakes, omissions, or any other situation that might arise from this if a family wishes to take on this task. It will be determined and noted at the arrangement conference whose responsibility this will be from the informant.
