Our History

Justice C. Pftzing moved to Havana, Illinois from Hanover, Germany in 1857. He was a cabinetmaker and undertaker. He had ten children, two of which, Oscar and Henry Pftzing, carried on the funeral service. Oscar had two daughters. The eldest daughter, Bula, married Grover Hurley and had two sons. These two sons, Richard and E. Jay Hurley purchased the funeral home in Havana. After WWII, in 1946, they purchased another funeral home in Petersburg.

In 1971, Richard's son, Jerry Hurley, joined the firm. In 1997, the Cain Funeral Home in Mason City was purchased from Don and Lorena Cain. In January of 2000, the Styninger Funeral Homes in Mason City, San Jose and Greenview were acquired. In May of 2000, Michael J. Hurley, the son of Jerry and Janis Hurley, graduated from the University of Minnesota Program of Mortuary Science. He then joined the family firm to become the fifth generation of funeral directors. In 2006, Lintner Funeral Home in Chandlerville was added, and is now known as Lintner-Hurley Funeral Home. In 2012, Maas Funeral Home in Manito was purchased from Randy and Eleana Maas and is now known as Maas-Hurley Funeral Home.

We have served the families of this area for many years. We offer this "Traditional Service Package" in conjunction with any casket purchased from our firm. We offer this at a discounted price much less than if each item were selected individually. Our 2-day traditional funeral service package includes, but is not limited to the following items: Removal from place of death within 50 miles of the funeral home, embalming and other necessary preparation, staff services of funeral director and staff, use of facilities for visitation and funeral (or the church of your choice within 50 miles of our facility), casket coach, a car for clergy, a vehicle for transporting flowers, an automobile for family or pallbearers, your choice of acknowledgement cards, standard visitors register and printed memorial folders or a standard memorial box set for the service. Some families may choose to use all but one or two of the above mentioned items.
