Our History

Justice C. Pfetzing moved to Havana, Illinois from Hanover, Germany in 1857. He was a cabinetmaker and undertaker. He had ten children, two of which, Oscar and Henry Pfetzing, carried on the funeral service. Oscar had two daughters. The eldest daughter, Bula, married Grover Hurley and had two sons. These two sons, Richard and E. Jay Hurley purchased the funeral home in Havana. After WWII, in 1946, they purchased another funeral home in Petersburg.

In 1971, Richard's son, Jerry Hurley, joined the firm. In 1997, the Cain Funeral Home in Mason City was purchased from Don and Lorena Cain. In January of 2000, the Styninger Funeral Homes in Mason City, San Jose and Greenview were acquired. In May of 2000, Michael J. Hurley, the son of Jerry and Janis Hurley, graduated from the University of Minnesota Program of Mortuary Science. He then joined the family firm to become the fifth generation of funeral directors. In 2006, Lintner Funeral Home in Chandlerville was added, and is now known as Lintner-Hurley Funeral Home. In 2012, Maas Funeral Home in Manito was purchased from Randy and Eleana Maas and is now known as Maas-Hurley Funeral Home.
